Rescue Crew Still Holds Lead in C. of C. Campaign

The Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Squad polled nearly two million votes last week to take a substantial lead over St. Rita's Guild in the Buy in Sierra Madre campaign.

St. Rita's, though, polled more than a million votes to stay within striking distance of first place. The contest, sponsored by the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce, will end Oct. 11.

Still in third place is Bethany Church, which polled 913,475 votes for the week.

Three prizes totaling $1,000 in cash will be awarded to the top three vote getters at the close of the campaign.

First prize is $700; second prize, $200, and third prize, $100.

All you have to do to participate in the campaign is to buy in the stores of Sierra Madre merchants who are backing it. For every dollar you spend in these stores you are entitled to 100 votes which you may cast for your favorite civic, fraternal or religious organization.

A vote breakdown of the leading organizations follows:

Technique, Realism Mark Library Show

By John Christenson
Member, Exhibits Committee
Friends of the Library

If you enjoy realism and academic technique, the current exhibit of women painters in the Library Gallery is for you and you and you.

Actually, it is interesting, in this period of imitative, abstract impressionism to find artists who prefer to delineate the seen object using traditional methods.

A variety of expression is represented, from Vanessa Helder's unrelenting realism, through Dorothy Lott's cubistic, broken planes of color, to Dorothy Jordan's dreamy Chagall-like expressions.

Most artists, during their productive life, look for a style or signature or unique representation that will distinguish their work from others.

Some artists work toward a conscious objective, using a variety of subject matter or a variety of technique with little concern as to what significance their painting has.

The academic painter assimilates, rejects, distorts or changes previous styles until he finds a particular representation that best meets his particular, immediate needs.

Unfortunately, painting will never be extended when a simple recording of seen objects is framed up and exhibited. However, most painters paint only for current exhibits and are not concerned with extending any painting.

Stop in the gallery and see for yourself, and don't pass up the cases in the main library with the exhibit of ceramics by students of the Los Angeles County Art Institute.

3 Area Men To Attend Convention

Three members of the Church of the Ascension here will be among more than 200 Episcopal laymen from Southern California who will attend the seventh annual Diocesan Conference of the Diocese of Los Angeles on Sept. 15 in Pasadena.

The three are James Lester, 405 Manzanita; Emerson Reichard, 585 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.; and Richard Hartley, 31 E. Highland.

ELECTED TO AIA

Harry H. MacDonald of 320 N. Lima St., Sierra Madre, certified public accountant, has been elected a member of the American Institute of Accountants, national professional society of CPAs. Mr. MacDonald is a partner in the firm of Pyle, Lance & Schlenger in Pasadena.

Chamber Gets Historic Photos

The Chamber of Commerce recently received over 75 negatives of pictures taken in Sierra Madre over 25 years ago, and will make prints available to residents at no cost.

Anthony Cavalli, Chamber secretary-manager, said the pictures include shots of the old post office, the city park as it was in 1931, the Japanese Gardens, many old ranch homes and residences, and other historical spots.

St. Rita's Opens Sept. 11; Staff Changes Noted

St. Rita's Parochial School, which has been in operation in Sierra Madre since 1923 under the supervision of the Sisters of St. Francis, will open its current year Sept. 11 at 9 a.m.

About 340 pupils are enrolled in grades one through eight. Registrations will be taken up to and including opening day.

Sister M. Herman, who has taught second grade at St. Rita's for seven years, has been sent this fall to Sacred Heart in Altadena. Sister M. Maria, fourth grade teacher, will be teaching at St. Mary's in Santa Maria this year.

New teachers on the staff this year are Sister M. Karen, second grade, and Sister M. Joan, fourth grade. The rest of the staff includes Sister M. Carol, first grade; Mrs. Dinny, third grade; Mrs. Henning, fifth grade; Sister M. Elizabeth, sixth grade; Sister M. Irmengild, seventh grade, and Mother M. Rosalia, eighth grade.

Traffic on Boulevard May Resume Sept. 21

City authorities today said the city had "reasonable assurance" that Sierra Madre Blvd. would be opened to through traffic on or about Sept. 21.

Original estimates were that the street would be closed until Oct. 8.

City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington said the date has been moved ahead because Kewit Construction Co., in charge of the storm drain construction on Lima St., has been pouring cement in the excavation on an overtime basis, on occasion working as late as 10 p.m.

Another factor was that excavation began the Friday before the Labor Day holidays, instead of Sept. 4, as originally planned.

"The Kewit company has maintained very close liaison with my office throughout this project," Mr. Bevington said Wednesday. "Their work and their cooperation have been exemplary, and I am satisfied they are doing everything in their power to hurry this thing along."

Merchants Open Despite 'Ditch'

Merchants on Sierra Madre Blvd. are doing business as usual despite the ditch blocking through traffic on the boulevard at the Lima St. corner.

Residents can drive up the boulevard as far as Lima by by-passing the detour sign at Hermosa, it was pointed out. All the merchants are open for business with the exception of Packard's Delicatessen, which has closed until storm drain construction is finished.

The Army Corps of Engineers said last week that the boulevard would be closed at Lima for about five weeks.

Local Trio Gets Report On Disasters

Attending the meeting last month in San Gabriel of the Los Angeles-Orange County Red Cross Disaster Organization were Col. Charles E. Morrison, local Red Cross disaster chairman; Mrs. Florence Peterson, Red Cross executive secretary, and Mrs. Marion Pendergast, chief medical assistant for nurses in the local Red Cross disaster organization.

Those attending heard Miss Lois Goodman, director of nursing service for the Pacific area of the Red Cross, relate her experience in disaster work during the Northern California floods last spring and describe the lessons learned in caring for flood victims.

Mrs. Pendergast this week urged all registered nurses or nurse's aides in Sierra Madre to register or re-register with her at ELgin 5-1141 or with her deputy, Mrs. Leila Roberts, at ELgin 5-9348, even if they could give only a small part of their time in an emergency.

The same roster of nurses would function under Civil Defense.

Fund Drive Starts for Prize Show

Mrs. Stanley Fish and Dr. Nathan Jacobs are co-chairmen of the drive for donations for the second Annual Purchase Prize Exhibition, scheduled to open Nov. 2 in the Library Gallery.

Serving on the committee are Mrs. Edith Dane, Mrs. Roger Benedict, Mrs. Dan Parker, Mrs. Lucille Price and Mrs. Isabelle Kanitz.

The Purchase Prize will be awarded this year for a watercolor. Twenty outstanding watercolorists in the region will be invited to compete.

Last year's award was made for oil paintings and canvases of Robert Frame and Joshua Meador were purchased. Over 1,500 persons visited the gallery during the month-long show, most of them voting in the selection of the award winner.

Names of donors to the prize fund are listed in the program for the exhibition. Arrangements for the annual affair are made by the Exhibits Committee of Friends of the Library.

Friends Set Board Meet For Tonight

A Board of Directors meeting of the Friends of the Sierra Madre Public Library will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the Library's Community Room.

At its previous meeting, the board discussed tentative plans for a series of children's and adult programs. In connection with the adult program, arrangements are being made for the Friends to sponsor a Great Books Discussion Group which will get under way soon.

Now in its fourth year of sponsoring cultural activities in connection with the Library, the group currently is conducting a membership campaign. Dues are 50 cents for Junior Memberships and from $1 to $100 for adult memberships. Applications are available at The News office and at the Library.

Renewals should be sent to Treasurer John Fetters, 82 W. Alegria.

NEW ENGLAND PICNIC

An all-day reunion of New Englanders will be held Sept. 8 starting at 1:30 p.m. at the Sycamore Grove Park in Los Angeles.

Local merchants and members of the City Council have asked The News to cooperate in seeking a public expression of opinion on the Police Department proposal, in the new uniform traffic code, to abolish angle parking in favor of parallel parking, in the downtown district. Readers are asked to mark their preference on this coupon and send the coupon to: Sierra Madre News, 9 Kersting Court, Sierra Madre, Calif.

Board Gets It From Both Sides As 150 Attend Hearing on Sears

Directors Take Case Under Advisement

By Lucie Lubisch

In a long hearing punctuated by hot exchanges, the Pasadena city directors Tuesday received thousands of words of testimony from all sides in the controversial proposal to build a Sears, Roebuck & Co. store at Michillinda and Foothill Blvd.

The hearing lasted from 10:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., after which the directors took the case under advisement.

Some 150 persons were on hand for the hearing, at least half staying to the bitter end, as appeals were heard from Sears and from Hastings and Arcadia residents from a conditional approval—containing some 15 conditions—of the zone change Sears asks.

THE THEME of the meeting, said in a myriad of ways, was: From Sears—"That site is the only one in Pasadena that we can use. We deem conditions imposed concerning landscaping and planning a burden, and we must have ingress and egress on Michillinda." From homeowners—"The City of Pasadena should not feel forced to throw its zoning out the window because it has been threatened by Sears, and we, as property owners, are entitled to protection from the men we elect."

William Etheridge, attorney for Hastings residents and a homeowner in adjoining Arcadia, told the directors: "If this were the Amalgamated Sash and Door Works asking to change the zone, you would say 'no.' When Sears threatens, is the City of Pasadena going to get down on the floor and say 'yes, we've gotta have that money (taxes from Sears)? We can't live without it?'"

"WE HAVE a zoning ordinance. Let's stick by it. The eyes of the nation are on this city of homes and this case." Are you going to say "it all depends on who wants what"? Are we to have personalized zoning?"

The property in question is a parcel 550 feet wide along Foothill by 594 feet along Michillinda behind Mayfair Road residences, with a 150-foot strip on Michillinda presently zoned R-1 and the rest R-3 and P.

Over objections by residents, the Planning Commission agreed to change the zone to commercial and allow Sears to build, but placed a number of restrictions which the big chain found unsatisfactory. Appeals from the decision were made by all concerned.

MR. ETHERIDGE said Sears has other available property, but wants this particular piece because it is cheaper, that as residential land it will cost $30,000 an acre compared to $60,000 for commercial. He cautioned city directors not to be "fall guys" for a deal between Murphy Bros., owners of the land, and Sears.

The question of whether Sears has a lease on the property came in for considerable debate, with Sears spokesmen asserting a lease was signed for the property in April.

In rebuttal, Charles C. Hamill, attorney for Arcadia residents, placed in evidence a copy of the original application for zone change made in May, which says that "acquisition depends on approval of the application."

MR. HAMILL CALLED this "typical of the double talk" and "another power play" by the subdividers of Hastings Ranch. He urged the City not to "sell its integrity for the benefit of the Murphy Bros. (Edwin, John and Frank) and the applicant (Sears)."

Speaking for Sears were its attorney, James Boyle, who declared that the Planning Commission restrictions would prohibit Sears' use of the property; Tommy Thompson, Beverly Hills landscape architect, who objected to planting areas ordered; Gordon McClelland of the East Pasadena Business Men's Association, who said his organization wants Sears in the area; Donald Lamett, Sears Pasadena manager, and John Wadham, Sears property manager.

MR. LAMOTT said the store proposed would be a credit to the community and would bring employment to 300 more people. He also remarked that "one of every six families in Pasadena has or has had a time-payment account with Sears," and that "more than 60 per cent of Sears customers are outside the limits of Pasadena."

Unexpected fireworks came from a resident of Fallen Leaf Road, Arcadia, who only moved in Saturday—Mrs. Paul Almquist. She got up to say that she had inherited stock in Sears, that her father had worked there for 30 years, and that she knew too much about the chain to want it in the neighborhood.

MR. BOYLE said she was lucky to own the stock, but called her a "snob." She said he was "no gentleman."

ALSO SPEAKING for homeowners was Gordon Whitnall, S.C. professor and planning consultant often called the "father" of zoning, who told directors: "The real and only issue the board is concerned with is the basic policy of zoning and your law with reference thereto. Sears is not concerned." He said when "zoning consists of arbitrary determinations, it is predestined to ultimate decay."

Among homeowners present who gave their personal viewpoints on traffic and decrease in home values were Fred Rickey, 3840 Mayfair; Mrs. Gloria Flannery, 3859 Mayfair; Eugene W. Lewis, 3875 Mayfair; Richard Hasbrook, 3760 Mayfair; Bob Sears, 3855 Mayfair; and Fennimore Cooper, 1214 Michillinda.

Art for Art's Sake—II

Some months ago I gave a layman's (Boy, I mean layman's) report on a few of the pictures hanging in the City Hall gallery.

Now we have often carried in The News critical reports, by qualified artists, of current exhibits. But what I was trying to do was different. I wanted to tell those readers as befuddled by art as I am (I refuse to believe I'm alone in this) what those pictures really looked like.

I didn't win a critic's award, but neither was I assaulted, which is a victory of sorts. So this week I returned to the scene of the crime.

First thing that caught my eye was a pretty big picture featuring some cockeyed telephone poles. What I mean is, they were leaning every which way.

In the foreground, and reaching around to the background, were a bunch of leaning fence posts supporting a ribbon fence. Now at first glance, I thought this was a barbed wire fence, but more careful scrutiny disclosed that it was just what I said it was—a ribbon fence.

Over the whole scene hung a great big brown mushroom cloud, with some pink in it. I peered thoughtfully and deduced that the cloud was emitted from the front end of a line of disconnected box cars, which were all askew on the track. Evidently, then, there was a locomotive engine up there some place.

In the middle of the picture, which was pretty big, by the way, stood a rickety train station with a sign on its corner: Vincent. And that's the name of the picture, "Vincent," by Alan Wood. Great.

I saw another picture down there. It showed a stern-faced ranny (that's cowboy talk for "cowboy") on a galloping horse. The ranny had just heaved his lasso (that's a rope) around the head of a little doggie (that's some kind of cow). The doggie was sticking his tongue out, and the horse appeared bored (although, come to think of it, I've rarely seen a horse that didn't).

This picture was very pretty. Big blue sky, pink clouds. Very Western. Zane Grey-ish, in fact. Name of it is "Seeking Adventure," by Courtney Miles. Great.

Now as you know, my technique, if you'll permit me, is to stand in the center of the room, look around for a while and see what catches my eye.

Well, this time what caught my eye (and to tell the truth it caught my eye every other time, too) was a big picture of a girl with no clothes on. Not a stitch.

She's kneeling in this lagoon, either putting a red flower in her hair or hiding her face, which isn't a bad idea considering her condition. The water is pretty shallow.

The girl has long black hair—about three feet long, I'd say—and it either is made of wire or stiffened from fright or shame, for it hangs in a stiff curve without touching her.

Name of this picture is "Island Girl" by Maggie Ascher. Maggie! But it's great, too. After all, Art is Art. —W.F.T.

Lee Shippey asks
What Do You Think?

Other evening I was walking on Carter Ave. when music from the band concert at the Park came floating to me, sweet and clear as if the band was half a block away instead of half a mile.

It made me realize what a blessedly peaceful, restful, quiet town ours is. No roar of traffic, no electric signs bright enough to blot out the stars, no boisterous sound of any kind. Somewhere far off a dog was barking, but distance mellowed that sound into friendliness.

YET WE HAVE our tragedies in Sierra Madre. Last week's News told of the arrest of a teenager charged with burglary. There can't be any greater tragedy than the abandonment of honesty and honor by our young people.

Consciously or unconsciously, all our efforts are to create a better world for them, knowing they are our future and the future of the country.

But then too often our own acts disillusion them. That is why properly directed youth activities such as the Semanons, the Scouts, the Camp Fire Girls and others are tremendously important. Sheriff Biscailuz once told me that not one percent of the youngsters who enter such activities as children turn out wrong. What do they profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses his own child?

AUGUST 23 an American

Washington News

By EDGAR W. HIESTAND, Rep. 21st District

This may rank as the most belated report to come out of the San Francisco convention.

I hope to make up for this distinction by viewing the convention from its importance on coming events, rather than from what was said and done there.

To me, President Eisenhower's acceptance speech seemed to sum up the thinking of all Republicans, particularly when he put down his glasses and addressed "all independents and all right-thinking Democrats."

"C'mon in and join us," he urged, beckoning with both arms. It was a completely spontaneous move—not in the text—yet it seemed to exemplify not only what has brought Eisenhower his great popularity, but what has advanced the Republican Party to "the party of the future," as he called it.

IN MY OPINION, the President's speech was one of the convention's "big six." His address and those of ex-President Hoover, Thomas E. Dewey, Sen. William F. Knowland, Rep. Charles Halleck and, of course, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, dwarfed the remaining oratory, much of which was excellent.

Each of these six was unique. Each served a distinctly different purpose. In Hoover we heard a philosophy expressed for all America. The elder statesman, making his "third farewell address," presented a masterpiece of sound, non-partisan thought.

THE SPEECH of Tom Dewey was obviously the convention's most free-swinging. It called the bluff of Democrats who had just Navy plane carrying 16 men, at least one of whom was from California, was shot down by Chinese Reds. Not many years ago that would have called for decisive punitive action, but now we cannot even talk to the China Reds because we don't recognize them.

The reason we don't is that we are giving moral support to the claims of Chiang Kai-shek, who has about as much hope of recapturing China as the Indians have of recapturing New York. As we can't talk to the Chinese we ask the British to do it for us, and get nowhere fast.

We wouldn't have to approve Red China to recognize it. We could oppose its acts as we oppose those of the Soviets. We could just as firmly oppose China's membership in the United Nations.

Seems to me we are hurting ourselves in refusing to recognize an outfit with which we have to deal indirectly. We weren't recognizing Mexico when Woodrow Wilson sent Pershing into that country after Mexican raiders had murdered a few Americans—four if I remember rightly—in New Mexico, and our Marines captured Vera Cruz because the fort there refused to salute our flag.

Those acts didn't involve us in any war. But of course in an election year, it wouldn't do to furnish the peace slogan, no matter what happens to our dignity.

completed their Chicago meeting. It caused many Republicans to wish that Dewey had been as outspoken eight years ago.

Yet Dewey's speech was devoid of bitterness. It provided to all that he has gotten his own political ambitions, and that factions exist no longer in the party.

Senator Knowland's speech also helped to consolidate the "wings" of the Republican Party. Here was a statesman, one who might have been the candidate, yet there was no indication of the latter in his address.

Rather, he took the occasion to list factually and logically what the administration had accomplished, and especially what a future administration must accomplish to preserve the peace and prosperity it will inherit.

THE NOMINATION of President Eisenhower by Congressman Halleck seemed to present best what Eisenhower and his team have accomplished. Halleck's knack for well-turned phrases has long been a high point in the House of Representatives. This speech was positive, full of warm praise for the President, yet lacking rancor which had run so steadily in Chicago. Republicans, spent little time in criticizing Democrats. They had too much else to talk about.

As Vice President Nixon gave his speech we saw a man's final emergence from a politician to a statesman. Although beset with personal problems, he made clear that the Republican Party will stand for none of the smugness nor self-satisfaction of which it has been accused.

Around the Square

By Marjorie Parker

There is no doubt that the mind is errant in the last days of August and the first of September. The children are not yet back in school, the fly is on the screen and the temperature is morbid.

Under such conditions, Ethel (Mrs. Paul) Sheldon got to wondering just what was the good news carried from Ghent to Aix in Robert Browning's poem? Was it supposed to be war time? Was a king about to lose his noggin?

She worked her way through encyclopedias, history books, the local library and finally called the English Department at Occidental College. They—uh—don't know offhand but would call her back. They called with the solemn pronouncement that there was no news. Nothing had been going on at all.

Mayhops Browning wrote it over Labor Day week-end.

QUAKER PAUL and Jean Johnson will arrive at 720 Skyland Drive about Sept. 28 after nine months living in suitcases through Europe, three years in Jordan.

They will remain here several months as Paul does temporary work with the American Friends Service Committee in Pasadena.

REMEMBER the story credited to Dorothy Tiller about the dog that ate a camellia a day? Well, Dorothy sets it straight—it is a Siamese cat and now prefers roses.

DEE LOTTS, husband of Dorothy Lotts, whose paintings are at the Library Gallery, tells about how she painted a recent portrait. Seems that she must have an incentive, money is not important. So a friend came over and said that if Dorothy would paint her daughter, she would knit her a dress. Mr. Lotts came home to find the portrait under way and his artist wife joyously described the terms.

"And what's more—" she added, "she's going to throw in the yarn so I'll throw in the frame!"

A business man, Mr. Lotts is still shuddering.

ANYBODY ELSE noticed the new electronic siren on the police cars? It comes to a stop as abrupt as an elevator, leaving everybody suspended.

QUITE A TASK to figure out who's going and who's coming this last week. For instance, Mary Grace McWade flies in from several weeks in Honolulu in time to depart with her mother and brother, Phillip, for Apple Valley. They will rent there and attend school while Charles remains in town awaiting the building of their desert home. The Raphaels are back after summer at the beach, but Grace (Mrs. Ted) Bauerle has left for Ft. Worth to install her elder daughter Ellen in Texas Christian University. And if any nice want to play in weather like this, Chief of Police Gordon McMillan and wife Marie have departed on vacation.

SEEN ON Sierra Madre Blvd.: a towing truck towing a towing truck towing a car. Well, that answers who takes care of the caretaker's daughter when the caretaker's busy, etc.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I am writing to tell you how much I appreciate the fine coverage of the local Pasadena news which you provide in the Sierra Madre News.

I want to encourage you to continue to report this Pasadena news in the complete, well-written and interesting manner which you have presented it in the past. The job you are doing of covering the local news is so good by contrast that I have decided to cancel my subscription to (an area daily paper).

Again my thanks for a job well done and my encouragement for the future.

Insurance
Quiz

Calhoun
Q. What is the best buy in a limited accident policy today?
A. Many people today have $500 medical payments policy on their auto insurance which costs about $8 or $9 a year. If they would increase this to $11 or $12 a year they would have $2,000 medical payments which would cover them in their car and on the street if they were hit by an auto. There are no limitations as to health or age and the price is certainly the lowest for this type of protection.

ALA Members Assist With Convention

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will hear reports from their president, Mrs. Thelma Proctor, and Mrs. Elise Hadlock, who attended the district meeting in San Dimas, when they meet Sept. 13 in the home of Mrs. Theo Proctor, 280 E. San Gabriel Ct. Mrs. Amy Beisel will be hostess.

When the group met in the home of Mrs. Tom Henderson, a committee—consisting of Mrs. Helen Wheeler, president; Mrs. Edna Fallor and Mrs. Kitty Miller—was chosen to assist at the National American Legion Convention.

The committee attended a meeting in Patriotic Hall to be assigned their duties at registration and information booths in the various hotels where delegates are housed.

Mattecheck-Ryan Nuptial Mass In San Gabriel

Marietta A. Ryan, 401 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., became the bride Aug. 25 of Henry J. Mattecheck of Pasadena at a Nuptial Mass at San Gabriel Mission. Father Leo Mattecheck, nephew of the groom, read the service.

The bride chose a dusty rose lace waltz length gown and carried a bouquet of lily of the valley.

Mercedes MacGowan, niece of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a blue silk print frock and carried pink roses.

Larry Mattecheck served his father as best man.

A reception for 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. James J. MacGowan, who is affiliated with the Sierra Madre City Hall, and her husband at 262 Ramona.

Following the reception the newly married couple enplaned for a visit in Minnesota and South Dakota. When they return to Southern California they will make their home in Pasadena.

MRS. GERALD KENNETH TROUT

The First Congregational Church of Sierra Madre was the scene Aug. 25 of the wedding of Dorothy Mary Oakley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stephen Oakley, 90 Suffolk, and Gerald Kenneth Trout, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Werner of Hemet, Calif. Rev. Harry P. Leach read the service.

The bride's mother was an original Cahill creation fashioned with a fitted bodice of embroidered white organdy and a full ballerina length skirt. The elbow length French illusion veil was held in place by a sequin-trimmed cap. The bride carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

The maid of honor, Anna Bayard de Volo, and bridesmaids, Marian Ellen Oakley and Mrs. Frederick Krinke, wore white embroidered organdy over pink taffeta frocks, accented by pink sashes, and carried bouquets of pink and white daisies.

John B. Grindrod was best man and the ushers were Charles Lawrence Yerxa and Thomas Carl Lister.

The bride's mother was attired in a pink linen with cotton lace trim dress and white accessories. She wore a white glabella corsage.

The groom's mother chose a light blue cotton lace ensemble with white accessories and garmelia corsage.

Mrs. Richard Patterson accompanied Marianne Crocker, soloist, who sang "Because I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception was held in the Ladies' Parlor of the church with Marsha Lister assisting with the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Sierra Madre Elementary School, Monrovia-Duarte High School, Pasadena City College and San Jose State College, where she was affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

The groom is a graduate of Chaffey College, Ontario, Calif., and San Jose State College, where he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Following a Northern California honeymoon, the newly married couple will make their home at Pear Blossom, Calif.

TAX INSTITUTE

The ninth annual Institute on Federal Taxation will be held Oct. 17-19 at the University of Southern California School of Law, when 29 top tax authorities will speak on new regulations to the 1954 internal revenue code.

Social Activities AAUW Branch Will Hold Homecoming This Evening

Pasadena Branch, American Association of University Women, will hold a gala homecoming this evening at 6 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Albert Ellis, 363 S. Hill St.

Instead of the potluck supper of former years, a dinner will be served, arrangements for which are being handled by the Hospitality Committee: Miss Ruth Toy, chairman, and Mesdames P. D. Clentzos, A. C. Filger, K. D. Jefferson, C. G. Moore, J. D. Porter and Florence M. Summers.

Mrs. C. W. Whitston, branch president, and Mrs. Ellis will receive guests at the door.

The program will be a colored motion picture on the history of pottery, after which the members, as one of 16 groups selected to do so, will judge recent patterns in pottery and fine china.

Women in the Pasadena area interested in joining Pasadena Branch are urged to contact Mrs. C. M. McCloskey, membership chairman.

Santa Anita Chit-Chat

By "Anita"
EL 5-7846

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Morgan and their two children, Nancy, 13, and Mavis, 9, are just back from an extended trip through the Pacific Northwest and on up into British Columbia. The Morgans, who live at 81 Holdman Ave., have only recently moved to Sierra Madre after having lived for several years in Pasadena. We bid them a tardy welcome and know that they will come to love this area as do the rest of us former "newcomers."

MR. AND MRS. JAMES A. Nickoloff of 311 E. San Gabriel Court are the proud parents of a son, Jac Alexander, who was born Aug. 29 at St. Vincent's Hospital. Jac has three brothers to welcome him home.

ANOTHER NEW arrival is Kieth Rosenblum, new son of Lella and Philip Rosenblum of 141 S. Holdman Ave. Kieth was born Aug. 29 at St. Luke Hospital and has two brothers, David, 3, and Steven, 1½.

MR. AND MRS. MARTIN Berdahl and children Susan and John, who live at 472 San Gabriel, were forced to change their plans to visit the Pacific Northwest on their vacation because school opens a week earlier than they anticipated, and went instead to the High Sierras. Oh, well, Martin will have plenty of opportunity to try out his new boat on one of the many lakes and the fish are still biting like mad, we are told.

THELMA AND JOHN Tavis are back from a week's rest and relaxation at Mammoth Lakes region. They say that the camping was wonderful, even the very small children were catching their limit in trout, and that swimming at the nearby Hot Springs was the greatest.

Visiting Here From San Mateo

Mrs. J. A. Nicholson and her two boys, Stephen and Howard, are spending a two-week visit with her mother, Mrs. Jack Paschall of 411 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

Mrs. Nicholson is the former Genelle Paschall. She now lives in San Mateo, Calif.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Rabbi Charles W. Stekel, spiritual leader of the Foot-hill Jewish Community Center of Temple Beth Israel, 212 N. Lima St., this week announced that registration for the religious schools, both Sunday and Hebrew Schools, will take place this Sunday from 10 a.m. to noon.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE HOBART WOODRUFF

The Church of Our Savior, Episcopal, in San Gabriel was the scene of the double ring ceremony Aug. 25 which joined Flo-Ree Pascoe, daughter of Mrs. John G. Pascoe, 373 W. Sierra Madre, and the late Mr. Pascoe, in marriage to George Hobart Woodruff III, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Hobart Woodruff of Pasadena. Dr. Crawford Brown officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, John G. Parks of Woodland Hills, chose a waltz length princess style gown fashioned of white silk taffeta. White velvet flowers bordered the Sabrina neckline. Her chapel veil was caught by a crown of white velvet bands and flowers and she carried a cascade bouquet of lily of the valley and white orchids.

Allen Stockstill was best man and the guests were seated by Victor Morgan, Ted Matter and Roger Boeckler.

The bride's mother wore a pale blue waltz length dress accented by white accessories and the groom's mother wore a pastel green dress, also with white accessories. Both mothers chose yellow rose corsages.

A reception was held at the Barhite Road home of the groom's parents.

The bride is a graduate of Sierra Madre Elementary School and Pasadena City College. She also attended the University of California at Berkeley, where she was affiliated with Sigma Kappa Sorority.

The groom attended Pasadena City College and Pacific University at Forest Grove, Ore.

Following a week's honeymoon at Laguna Beach the couple will make their home in Santa Barbara, where they will both attend the University of California.

Couples Spend Recent Holidays At Loch Leven

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Fried with eight other couples spent the Labor Day weekend at Loch Leven, a private lodge in the mountains above Redlands.

Some of the activities enjoyed by the group in the lodge's beautiful setting were swimming in the pool, trout fishing in Loch Leven Lake, hiking, and evenings around the huge stone fireplace in the lodge's main hall.

The group is planning another get-together during the Christmas holidays.

FIRE FLAMES

By JAMES HEASLEY

Groom: "There's something burning around here!"

Bride: "It's the turkey, but according to my calculations, I can't take it out of the oven for another 15 minutes."

AS WE NEAR the very driest season of the year, when everything that goes without water becomes more and more an invitation to fire, we are expected to become more and more fire-conscious.

Under the present arrangements, it is most difficult to find all the hidden fire hazards about the city, and it is therefore requested that fire hazards be reported. Conditions from now until rains transform dry weeds and brush into green are such that we can not forget the dangers of fires for a minute.

Those who delay the cleaning of weeds and dry materials from their premises are reminded that such negligence is the cause of large and uncontrollable fires. A fire may start elsewhere but when it reaches the additional fuel, consisting of loose and dry materials, only experience can fully picture the result.

The dread of that major fire—which can happen—gives us the "creeps" when we realize how hot some of the piles of dry weeds would get if they caught fire.

Some time, in the wee hours of the morning when most people are sleeping sound, a smoldering, smoldering fire will eventually reach these piles, and this, encouraged by a little wind, may be too near some family home.

It is rather discouraging to the householder who keeps his place in tip top shape to realize that he is still in danger of fire because of the condition of his neighbor's yard.

THE GATHERING at the fire station a short time ago was the occasion for the entertaining of San Gabriel Valley firemen by the local fire department. We are very grateful to Carl Hansen and his crew of men for the convenience and preparation of the Ford Garage for the entertainment of the group.

Approximately once a year it becomes the obligation of the fire department to invite the valley men to Sierra Madre. We attend meetings in other cities and enjoy the hospitality shown. Soon firemen of the state will be gathering at Ukupa for the annual Conference.

REMEMBER, from now until the green of spring we are constantly in danger of fire. We are still surrounded by inflammable brush at the edge of the city. Burning brush could reach the heart of the city, and that 'aint no foolin'.

DRUNK TEST

Sheriff E. W. Biscailly today announced that in the near future the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department will introduce the use of the Intoximeter, commonly known as the balloon test, for drunk drivers.

TREATMENT OF CONSTIPATION Don't Try to Be Your Own Doctor

Every doctor like every layman has his own pet treatment for constipation. Each bases his practice on his experience; the chief difference is that the doctor's experience is much broader, based on observation of hundreds of cases and conditioned by years of training in interpretation of his observations. The layman on the other hand qualifies as an expert merely by observation of his own case. This does not mean that the layman will always be wrong and the doctor always right. But just as you take your car to a man who is skilled in repairing your particular kind of car, so you will go to a doctor who is skilled in colon therapy if constipation vexes you.

Diagnosis Must Come Before Treatment

Twenty years professional experience in colon therapy has given the writer an opportunity to observe and study practically every common type of colon disorder as well as many which are less common. It has long been a source of diagnostic satisfaction to be able to study a patient's condition first-hand by use of the Dierker colon therapy instrument. This equipment enables the doctor and nurse to observe and judge the colon's condition by seeing the nature of the excretion as it passes before the eyes through the glass tube. This is valuable diagnostic information without which intelligent therapy would be impossible.

Passage of blood clots, ropy mucous shreds and clumps, cecost particles, undigested food, foreign bodies (especially with children), irritants, worms and larva may be seen. Usually the patient does not know about or fails to mention these conditions which may all have an important bearing on the problem of constipation. Many times this information is even more important than X-ray diagnosis, but in any case it is best when correlated with X-ray and fluoroscopic studies. (Adv.)

VILLA
VIEWSBy Toni Maurin
SYcamore 7-9634

The last gasp of summer vacation is just about over and the hill folks are straggling in from all corners of the globe to settle down to routine once again. Most of us who stayed around Southern California are kind of wondering what happened to our summer weather.

We've been waiting for those usual California balmy nights where you sit out under the stars and contemplate life in general. Somehow, I feel kind of cheated. I haven't run out with a dripping brow once this season to shake my head at the thermometer, and I am still waiting to take the extra blankets off the beds. Might I quote: "This has been a most unusual summer in California!"

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH Phillipson of 1485 Old House Road returned with two of their children, David and Alice, from a week's trip up Yosemite way, where they made daily hikes up into the high country.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD Pember of 1270 Wynn Road are happy to announce the birth of their son, Richard Bissell Pember Jr., born Aug. 28 at St. Luke Hospital, and weighing in at a lusty 10 pounds, 4 ounces. The Pembers have three other children, Patty, Kathy and Susy.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT R. Griswold of 1215 Sierra Madre Villa entertained several of their classmates from South Pasadena High School at an informal gathering last week. Among the guests were Mr. Matty Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ross and Commander and Mrs. Gregory Hohns.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY A. Pulaski of 3115 Doyne Road returned recently from a trip to the High Sierras. They spent most of their time fishing and sightseeing.

THE GEORGE HOLMES family of 1550 Old House Road returned recently from a three-week stay at Laguna Beach.

THE AIKMAN Armstrong family of 3450 Fairpoint returned last Saturday from a two-week trip to Balboa Island.

MRS. J. E. HADDOCK JR. of 1215 Wynn Road returned recently with her daughter and son, Donna and Michael, and their guest, Eddie Buckert, from a two-week stay up Yellowstone way. They flew up in their own plane with Mr. Lupe Amayas acting as pilot. They stayed at Mack's Inn in Idaho. On their return trip they stopped off to see Mrs. Haddock's brother in Grass Valley. Upon their return they had as their houseguest Mr. Enrique Hoffer of Hermosillo, Sonora.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT W. Grange have moved into their new home at 3230 Mesa Loa Lane. Their four children are Jack, 9½; Perrin, 8; Geoffrey, 6½, and Tod, 3½. Mr. Grange is associated with the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company of Los Angeles.

MR. AND MRS. SAM Matloff of 1590 Old House Road are entertaining Mrs. Matloff's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laidlaw from Winnipeg, Canada. They plan to be here till around the middle of September, and to take several little side trips during their stay.

Delahooke Boys
Attend College

Doug and Tom Delahooke, sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell Delahooke, 1240 Hastings Ranch, will be leaving soon for college.

Both boys graduated last June from Pasadena City College. Doug will enter the University of California at Berkeley and Tom will enroll at the University of California at Los Angeles. Both boys are juniors.

6,000 Miles by Auto;
Fun for All the Family

By Lucie Lubisich

The Lubisich family, composed of Lucie and Pete, parents, and daughters, Ann, 9 (thinks she's a teenager); Gwen, 6 (wishes she were big like Ann), and Jack, 1 (who acts his age) are home again after a month's vacation, which included some 6,000 miles of automobile travel.

So, as an authority, let this parent tell you that driving back and forth across this country in mid-summer is a snap. All it takes is an even temper, a credit card, money and cookies.

The even temper is for the mommy, the credit card for the daddy, money for the girls and cookies for Jack.

Life on the road was composed of non-California license plates to tally, points of interest to point at while whizzing along at 70 mph, many disposable diapers and a great game called "Which Motel Tonight?"

IN PASSING, may we suggest that you never stop at motels which call themselves "modern" or which have flowered homemade curtains. You also might beware of those which advertise "Free TV" or have a great number of units (they will house you in one of the back ones that isn't visible from the road, has flowered curtains and is barely "modern.")

Choosing a restaurant is important, too, but they all have FF (translated to mean French Fried) potatoes for lunch and dinner. You get potatoes for breakfast west of the Mississippi and grits for breakfast east of the Mississippi, even if you want only an egg.

As for Ann, she made a private survey. For every day of the 12 we were on the road, she had pancakes for breakfast, hamburgers for lunch and fried chicken for dinner.

WE COULDN'T have watched her go on like that much longer, but she seemed happy. She decreed each best she had ever tasted, except for Mommy's, of course.

Gwen wanted only peanut butter sandwiches and Jack ate out of cans. There were no dishes for the parents to wash—and no beds to make. The telephone didn't ring.

We went to Florida, by the way, and spent a wonderful two weeks getting a suntan on the white beach of the Gulf of Mexico. We relaxed, but good, because, after all, we had to drive home about 3,000 miles.

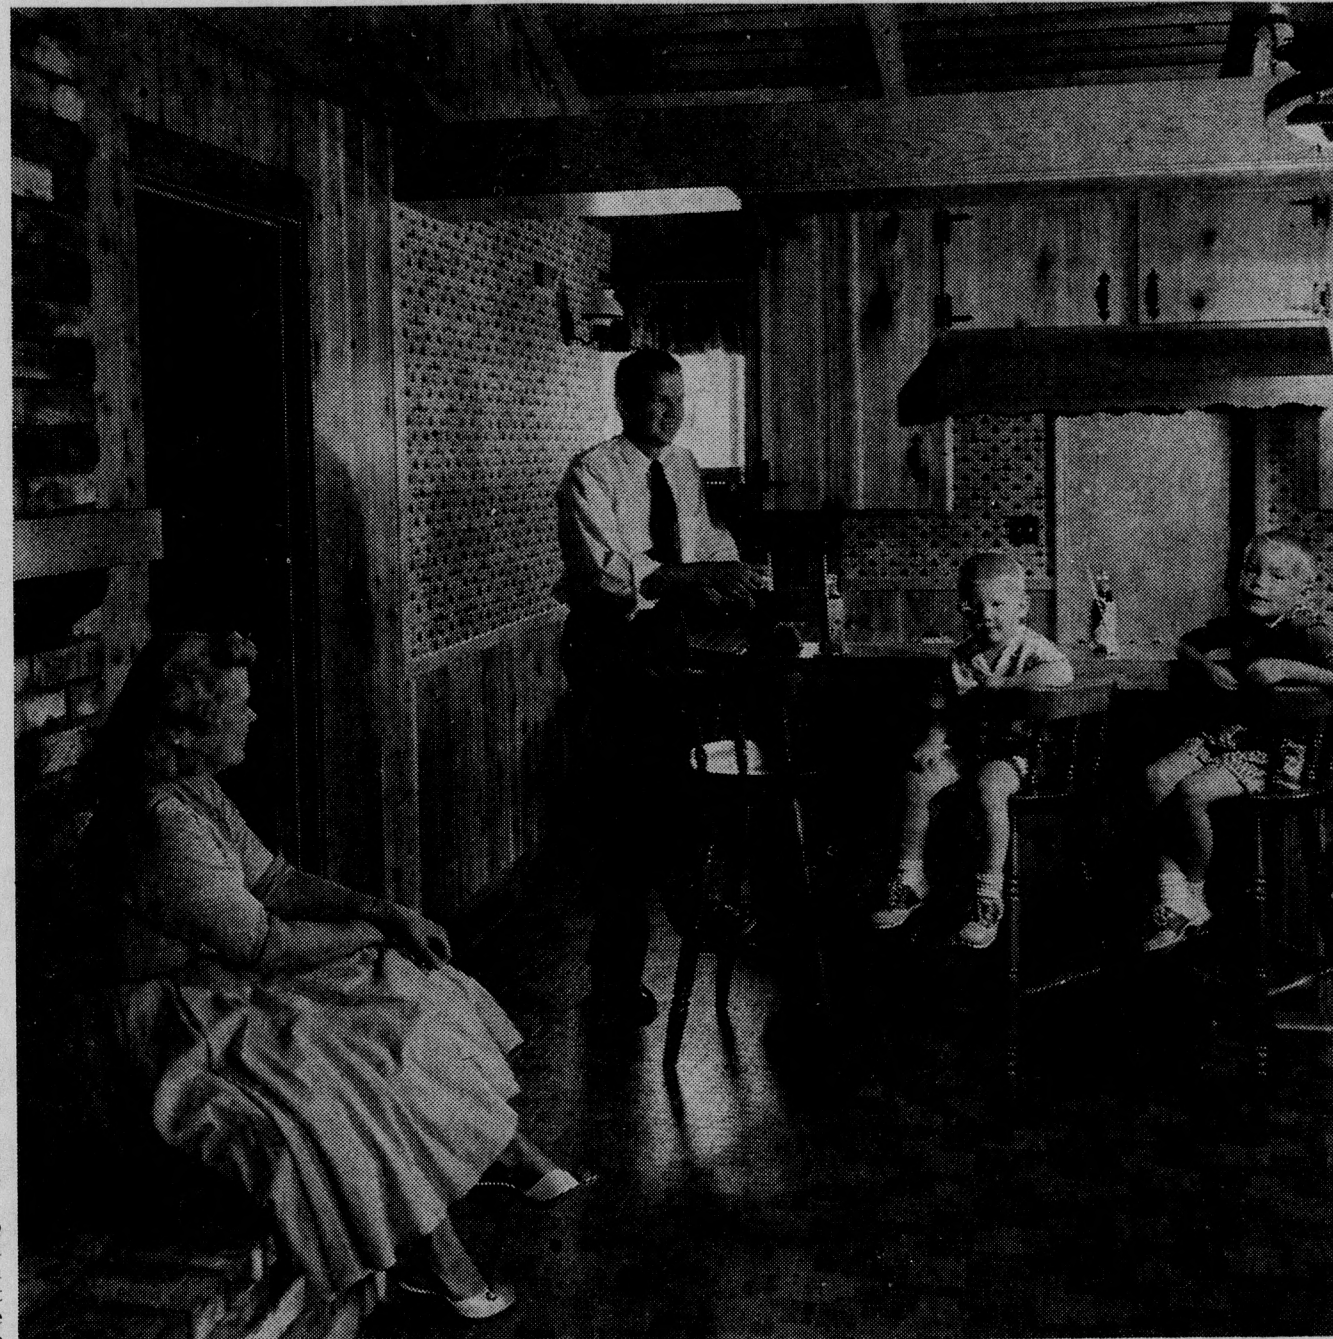

Children sometimes get a little testy when they ride some eight hours a day for several days. That's where the money came in handy.

THE OFFER of a nickel for the first girl to sight a corn field or a purple truck or a windmill turning will stop any disagreement, even a serious one like whose paper doll is which.

You'd be surprised how many pink station wagons there are, orange trailers, brown horses with grey spots, three-story houses, round haystacks, two white chickens talking, and the like.

More nickels were going to the back seat than we had bargained for, even though they brought peace and quiet and concentration on the ever-changing landscape. So we thought up some good ones like 50 cents for a camel and a quarter for somebody's old chewing gum on the highway.

Little Jack was a doll. One 25-cent box of cookies and 150 cans of baby food was all he needed for a month's trip. He had fun. He found somebody's old chewing gum besides, and would rather have had the gum than the quarter.

THIS FAMILY ROOM-KITCHEN is just one of the features blending rustic simplicity with modernity of concept in the Glendora home recently completed by Charles E. Smith of 1165 Daveric Drive. Mr. Smith, of the contracting firm of Smith and Nickman, built the home for his family and also to serve as an illustration of the type of home he can offer his customers. Shown above are Mr. and Mrs. Smith and two of their children, Ricky, 3½, and Gary, 5½. The Smiths also have a daughter, Darcy, 1. The family room, a part of which is shown in the foreground above, ties in with the kitchen beyond the pass-through counter-bar. The room has a high, open-beam ceiling and one wall of used brick, complete with fireplace and hearth seating. A wagon wheel light fixture adds a rustic touch. Other features of the house include a more formal living room, with a used brick fireplace and a dual television opening with the adjacent room, and children's bedrooms with built-in toy storage cabinets, child-size desk, dressers, and bulletin board. The Smiths moved into their new home on Sept. 4. Their new address is 1154 E. Comstock, Glendora.

Field Mothers
To Meet as School Opens

Vacation will become history at 9 a.m. Tuesday, when school starts again for hundreds of Hastings Ranch youngsters.

The Eugene Field PTA board will serve coffee and doughnuts to mothers in the school cafeteria, beginning at 8:45 a.m. The annual event provides an opportunity for mothers of "old" or new students of Field to get acquainted or re-acquainted.

Mothers are invited to meet for the coffee hour as soon as they have their children registered.

Albert Bye
Wins Jackpot

During a week's stay at Huntington Beach, sponsored by the Pasadena Chapter, Order of DeMolay Mothers' Club for the boys and their younger brothers, three members of the chapter, Ray Van Sittert, Albert Bye and John Wilson, boarded the "Sur-Fish," a half day fishing boat out of Huntington Beach, to try their luck.

Good luck was enjoyed by all the boys and Albert caught a 22-pound halibut and won the ship jackpot of $22.

Lynne Voges
Off to College

Lynne Voges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Voges, 1105 Valley View, left the first of the week for San Diego State College, where she will start her freshman courses.

Lynne is a graduate of Pasadena High School.

SANTA BARBARA VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Kaponya, 1060 Medford, and their children, Paul and Joan, have returned from a two-week holiday in Santa Barbara.

Hastings Teen Times

By David Brearley
SYcamore 8-7430

Beverly Parks of Sierra Madre was elected to be one of the counselors of the "Fortress of Youth" camp at Idyllwild recently. Beverly has been at the camp more than three weeks now, and plans to stay until school begins again at Wilson.

MR. AND MRS. EARL C. Morris with their children, Karen, Douglas, Lyn, Charles and Christine, have just come back from the East, where they picked up a new 1956 station wagon. The family traveled through the New England states and took their time seeing all the interesting places on their trip home. It sure sounds like a lot of fun.

IF YOU HAD BEEN

vacationing at Balboa this summer, you might have seen a real athletic-type girl paddling her paddle board around the bay. If you had, it probably would have been Brenda Rueger. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Rueger, live in San Marino and spend a lot of time on board their cruiser, "Ruenada," at the Villa Marina. Brenda goes to the Branson School for Girls in San Mateo near San Francisco. She tells us that a number of girls from Pasadena and our area go to her school, where they study special subjects, ride horseback, and do whatever else is done in a girls' school. I'm sure I don't know exactly what it is. Brenda adds that after much study she has found out that parents used to "know best" but now they "know better."

is almost gone for another year and soon we all will be back in school—sure sad to think of, but then, as our folks keep telling us . . . how else are we going to learn enough to be able to earn a living later on. I wonder if those old beachcombers didn't have a good deal after all.

Eubankses

The Gordon K. Wrights, 1075 Valley View, recently honored Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eubanks, former Ranch residents now making their home in Webster Grove, Mo., at a buffet patio dinner party.

Included in the evening's festivities was the surprise celebration of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Spalding's 15th wedding anniversary.

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Eley, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sophian, Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Vogel, Mr. and Mrs. Donald O. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Kaponya.

The Eubankses and their children, Ellen, Laura and David, have been visiting their families in Pasadena.

Don Wilsons
Vacation on Puget Sound

The Don Wilson family, 745 Hastings Ranch, took their two-week vacation visiting friends in California and on Puget Sound, Wash.

First they stayed a couple of days with former neighbors, the J. J. Jenkins family, on their northern California cattle ranch. Then the Wilsons drove on up through Crater Lake territory into Washington.

All report a wonderful time, with the children getting in horseback riding, swimming, boating and aquaplaning.

A Word About Pigeons—
Seems They've Gone to Pot

By Charles Ayres

Among our feathered friends the dove is the most renowned, with all due respect to the eagle and vulture. The dove is symbolic of peace and is shown often with a twig in its beak looking the part of a defenseless and loveable little creature.

Then, too, its name has gained widespread use as a term of endearment and lovers are accused of copying its utterances when they are said to bill and coo.

Not to be outdone are the song writers who have made good use of this little winged creature, like in "Who's Your Little Whoozit? Who's Your Turtle Dove?"

SUCH BEING the case why would anyone want to shoot these little creatures? There are probably lots of reasons, such as: (1) some people are against (a) peace, and (b) love, and (2) young doves are called squab and are claimed to be a gastronomic delight.

But the real reason is that they are pigeons. Pigeons have a nasty habit of playing like a B-29 and after an effective bombing of either person or car, the victim is not disposed to think of his tormentor as being symbolic of anything peaceful or loving.

In days gone by pigeons were trained to carry messages but this has fallen out of favor now and reference to carrier pigeons is reserved for unkind sarcasms directed at our mail service when delivery of glad tidings, such as government checks, is delayed.

INDICATIVE of the depths to which this once proud bird has fallen is the tag given that despicable tattletale referred to as the stool pigeon.

So really there doesn't seem to be much left to do but shoot them.

Those in authority apparently feel the same way because we have an open hunting season for them which happens to be now.

Among the Ranch residents who go in for this sort of activity are Jim White, who just returned from the corn fields around Bakersfield on such an expedition, and Bill Lansill, who just took his whole family to El Centro on such a pretext.

Most people never get to see the sunrise except maybe on Easter morning unless they are farmers or golf bugs who couldn't get decent starting time. But dove hunters do or they never get the bird—pigeons, that is.

Late afternoon hunting is also permissible but you have to quit at sundown for fear some overzealous hunter will make a pigeon out of you.

Diana Pursley Has Birthday

Diana Pursley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Pursley, 1125 Daverle, celebrated her eighth birthday anniversary at an evening party.

Those taking part in the festivities were Linda Taylor, Debbie Munro, Candy Atkinson, Betty Riccato, Cindy Zemer, Laura Schweppe, Maxine Tampico, Cathy Stoller, Meredith Wolfe, Valerie No. 11, Virginia Farnworth, Marilyn Rowley, Nancy Mesinger and the guest of honor's sister, Constance Ann.

The man with no money to speak of has to do his own talking.

New Chemical Clears Water in Arboretum Lake

For the first time since it was developed for recreation and irrigation purposes by the late E. J. "Lucky" Baldwin, the five-acre spring-fed lake at the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum in Arcadia has just been successfully cleansed of surface algae by use of a special chemical.

Almost completely covered with a heavy coating of algae, the surface of the lake was made crystal clear within a few days after spraying with a newly developed fungicide known as Phygon-XL. The Arboretum lagoon alongside the famous Baldwin Queen Anne Cottage and the Hugo Reid adobe now provides mirror-like reflection of its lakeside tropical trees and foliage.

So far, the anti-algae chemical does not appear to have harmed the large stock of fish in the Arboretum lake.
